Problem Understanding

Consumers often find it difficult to connect with small businesses and freelancers for any kind of short-term contractual work due to the lack of a centralized platform where businesses can list their services. This leads to a lot of confusion when it comes to hiring professionals, making it difficult to find reliable service-providers. The entire process is quite inefficient and time-consuming. We aim to create a unified platform where businesses and independent freelancers can list their services, improve their visibility and gain access to a wider consumer base.

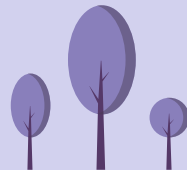

Motivation

The motivation behind BizWiz stems from the difficulties consumers face when trying to connect with small businesses and freelancers for short-term contractual work. The lack of a centralised platform leads to confusion and inefficiency in the hiring process, making it challenging to find reliable service providers. BizWiz aims to address this problem by creating a unified platform that enhances visibility for businesses and freelancers, providing them with access to a broader consumer base.

Requirement Gathering

We conducted multiple surveys in order to gain insight into the problems that people face when trying to contact small businesses and freelancers and also to understand the expectations and requirements that people might have with the application that want to design.

SCENARIO

CONTEXT

Joe sat at his desk, reading a client email about a recently completed project. While he was happy with his work, he knew he needed to expand his client base to grow his freelance business. That's when he came across an ad for "BizWiz", a platform designed to connect freelancers with clients seeking creative professionals.

APP FEATURES

Clients could search for designers based on their style, expertise, and budget, making it easier for Derek to match with projects that were a good fit. He could send proposals directly through the app, and clients could leave reviews once a project was completed.

INTERACTION WITH PRODUCT

Later that afternoon, Joe downloaded the app and quickly created a profile. The sign-up process was easy—he uploaded his portfolio, filled out his skill sets, and wrote a short bio about himself. The app even allowed him to set his hourly rate and offer custom packages based on the scope of each project.

OUTCOME

A few weeks later, Joe found himself juggling multiple projects through BizWiz. He was hired by a new client to design a brand identity for a local startup, something he had always wanted to dive into. His reputation on the platform started to grow, and as word spread, he found more and more clients reaching out.

ANNIE ABRAM

- 29 years old
- Female
- Baker

SCENARIO

CONTEXT

Annie was in her bakery, icing a batch of cupcakes. She loved her bakery, but she knew that to reach more customers, she needed a professional website and an online ordering system. She had been thinking about it for months but didn't know where to start or who could help her make it happen. That's when she remembered the "BizWiz" app. She had heard that it connected business owners with talented freelancers, so she decided to give it a try.

APP FEATURES

Feeling confident, Annie reached out to him through the app's messaging system, explaining her idea to him. They agreed on the preset price that Jake had listed on his profile and started working. Jake gave frequent updates to Annie through the app's in-build progress tracker.

INTERACTION WITH PRODUCT

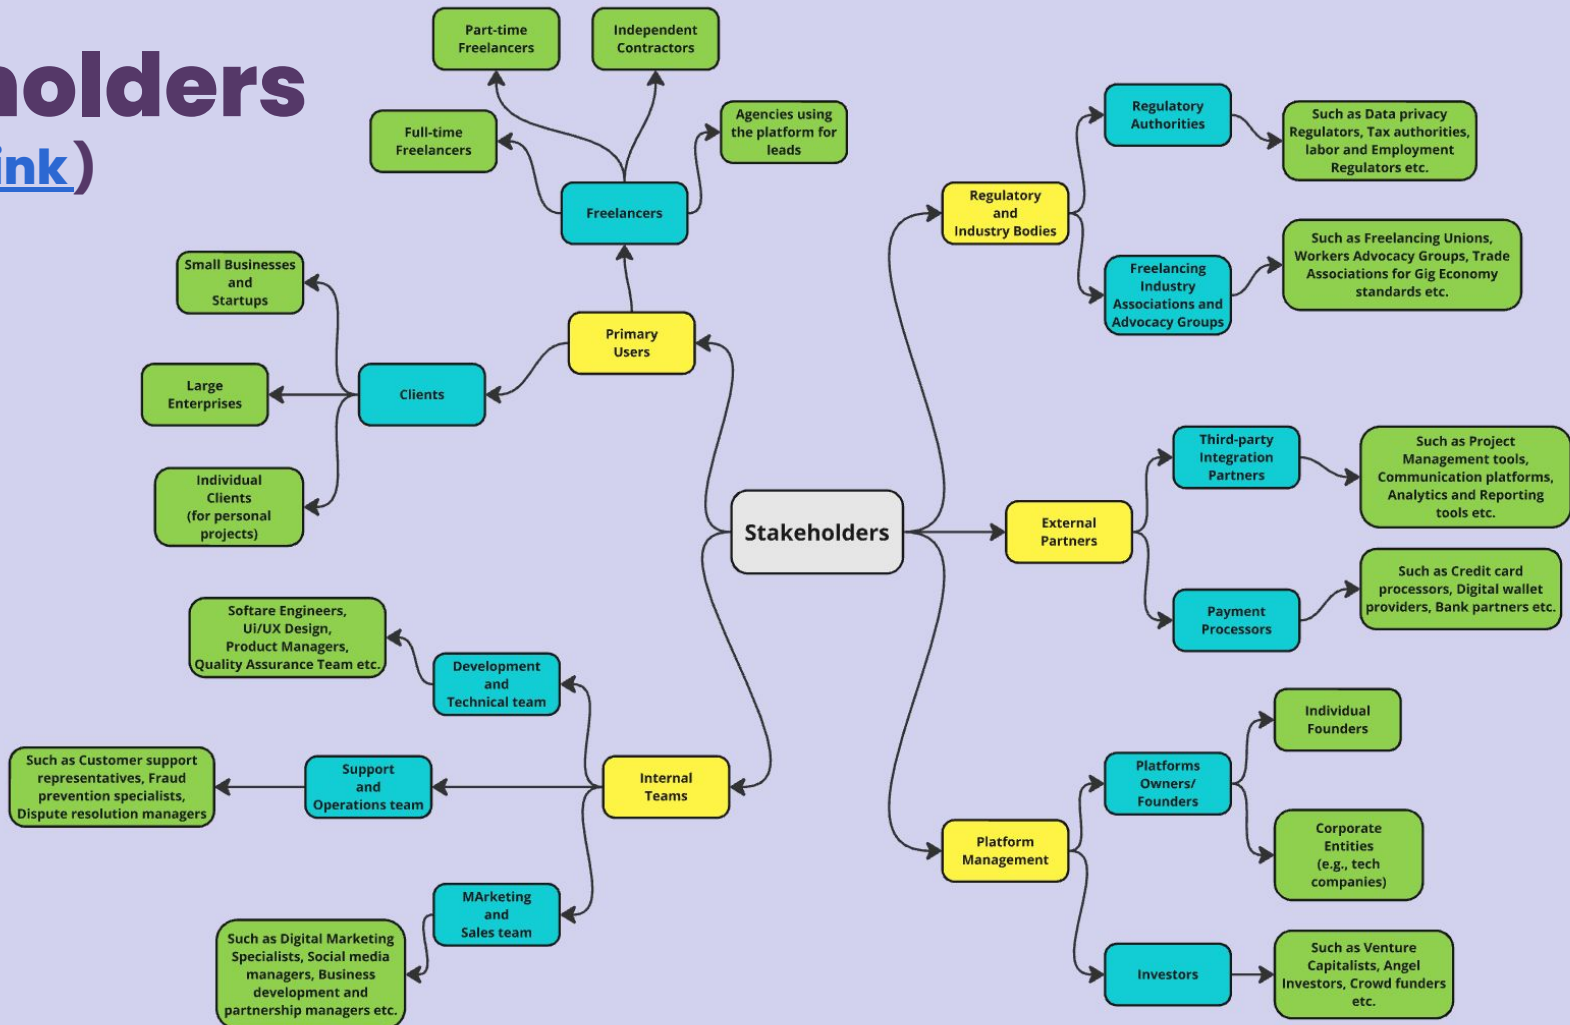

She came across a listing for a web developer named Jake who had worked with similar businesses. Annie reviewed Jake's portfolio and liked what she saw. His designs were clean, his websites had smooth user experiences, and the visual branding was cohesive with each business's unique style. It was exactly the kind of professional touch she wanted for her bakery.

OUTCOME

A few weeks later, Annie's website was live—sleek, easy to navigate, and with an online ordering system that made it simple for customers to place custom orders. As orders started coming in from neighboring towns, Maya smiled. BizWiz had helped her find the perfect freelancer to make her dream a reality, and her bakery was growing in ways she never imagined.

Overall design is great , but the font size isn't consistent

Use bright shade to enhance the logo

Synopsis of Feedback

Majority of users were happy with the design of our application and believed that it met their expectations. Users were mostly satisfied with UI and found it easy and intuitive to use. However, we did receive some negative feedback regarding the “Book Service” Screen. Aside from that, some users expressed concerns about the font size and certain design elements being inconsistent.

Learnings and Reflections

Throughout this project, we learnt how to identify patterns and characteristics that distinguish good designs from bad ones. By analyzing various interfaces, we developed a keen eye for elements that contribute to user-friendly, visually appealing, and functional designs, as well as those that hinder user experience. This process deepened our understanding of what constitutes a well-designed interface, emphasizing the importance of clarity, consistency, and accessibility in creating effective designs.

Moreover, this project highlighted the significance of teamwork. By working together, we learned how to communicate effectively and coordinate tasks efficiently. This experience underscored that successful design is not just about individual creativity but also about using the collective effort of a team to produce good results.
